

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 95th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-NINTH DAY, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 2010

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richard in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki.

O Lord, our God, infinite in wisdom, power, and love, we come to You conscious of our needs and with the confidence that You are with us to lead us in Your way, to strengthen us to do Your will, and to be our inspiration as we do our duty and make ourselves ready for the responsibilities of this day.

May the blessings of health, courage, and moral strength be ours and may our lives show their gratitude by good conduct motivated by genuine motives.

Bless this House of Representatives and all the institutions of our beloved state. Increase the faith of our people in our government and may the leaders prove themselves worthy of their trust. Forgive our shortcomings, save us from hypocrisy and from forever justifying ourselves. Simply let us do our best and leave the rest to You. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as an Honorary Page for the Day, to serve without compensation: Micah Melling.

The Journal of the twenty-eighth day was approved as corrected.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 52

WHEREAS, sickle cell disease is an inherited blood disorder that affects red blood cells. People with sickle cell disease have red blood cells that contain an abnormal type of hemoglobin; and

WHEREAS, normal red blood cells contain hemoglobin A. Hemoglobin S and hemoglobin C are abnormal types of hemoglobin; and

WHEREAS, red blood cells containing mostly hemoglobin S do not live as long as normal red blood cells and have difficulty passing through the body's small vessels. These hemoglobin S red blood cells can block small blood vessels, resulting in tissue damage due to less blood reaching that portion of the body; and

WHEREAS, sickle cell trait is an inherited condition in which both hemoglobin A and S are produced in the red blood cells, always more A than S. Sickle cell trait is not a type of sickle cell disease; and

WHEREAS, sickle cell conditions are inherited from parents in much the same way as blood type, hair color and texture, eye color and other physical traits. The types of hemoglobin a person makes in the red blood cells depend upon what hemoglobin genes the person inherits from his or her parents; and

WHEREAS, since sickle cell conditions are inherited from parents, it is important for people to be aware if they are a carrier before having children; and

WHEREAS, more than 80,000 people in the United States have sickle cell disease, affecting mostly persons of African heritage according to the National Institute of Health. Currently, there is no universal cure for sickle cell disease; and

WHEREAS, sickle cell disease results in a shortened life expectancy, with the average life expectancy being 42 years for men and 48 years for women; and

WHEREAS, based on the population of 5 million in the State of Missouri, 600,000 are African American. 1 out of 400 suffers with sickle cell conditions and 1 out of 12 has the sickle cell trait; and

WHEREAS, with these estimated numbers, there are approximately 1,500 individuals with sickle cell conditions and 50,000 individuals with sickle cell trait in the State of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, approximately 700 children, adolescents, and young adults with sickle cell disease reside in the St. Louis Metropolitan area. However, less than 25% of this sickle cell population will graduate from high school or seek higher education; and

WHEREAS, health maintenance for persons with sickle cell disease starts with early diagnosis, preferably when a newborn; and

WHEREAS, treatment of complications often includes antibiotics, pain management, intravenous fluids, blood transfusions, and surgery in combination with psychosocial support; and

WHEREAS, there are promising new treatments being developed which can prevent red blood cells from sickling without causing harm to other parts of the body, reduce the frequency of severe pain, acute chest syndrome, and the need for blood transfusions, and provide options to eliminate iron overload caused by repeated blood transfusions; and

WHEREAS, public awareness about sickle cell trait and disease and the numerous programs and screening available is vital to reduce to pervasiveness of sickle cell conditions:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-fifth General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby designate the week of May 9 - 15, 2010, as "Sickle Cell Awareness Week" in Missouri; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the General Assembly encourages and urges all citizens of this state to participate in activities during Sickle Cell Awareness Week to address the pervasiveness of sickle cell trait and disease and the need to increase public awareness of the available programs and screenings.

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on Tourism, to which was referred HCR 53, begs leave to report it has examined the same and recommends that it Do Pass, and pursuant to Rule 25(32)(f) be referred to the Committee on Rules.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 53

WHEREAS, Dr. Charles Richard Drew was an African American physician and medical researcher in the field of blood transfusions, and developed improved techniques for blood storage; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Charles Drew developed a technique for the long-term preservation of blood plasma. Prior to his discovery, blood could not be stored for more than two days because of the rapid breakdown of red blood cells; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Drew discovered that by separating plasma from the whole blood and then refrigerating them separately, they could be combined up to a week later for a blood transfusion; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Drew also discovered that while everyone has a certain type of blood - A, B, AB, or O - and thus prevented from receiving a full blood transfusion from someone with different blood, everyone has the same type of plasma. Thus, in certain cases where a whole blood transfusion is not necessary, it was sufficient to give a plasma transfusion which could be administered to anyone, regardless of their blood type; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Drew applied his expert knowledge in developing large-scale blood banks early in World War II, saving thousands of lives of the Allied Forces, and convincing Columbia University to establish a blood bank; and

WHEREAS, in late 1940, Dr. Drew set up and administered an early prototype program for collecting, testing, and distributing blood plasma in Britain. The Blood for Britain program in the United States was a project to aid British soldiers and civilians by giving blood to Britain. The program operated successfully for five months, with total collections of almost 15,000 people donating blood and over 5,500 vials of blood plasma; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Drew was named project director for the American Red Cross, but soon resigned his post after the United States War Department issued a directive that blood taken from White donors should be segregated from that of Black donors; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Drew was the first African American to receive a Doctor of Medical Science degree from Columbia University, and in 1942 became the head of Howard University's Department of Surgery. Dr. Drew was initially the Chief of Surgery at Freedmen's Hospital, and later was named Chief of Staff and Medical Director for the Hospital; and

WHEREAS, in 1948, Dr. Drew was awarded the Spingarn Medal from the NAACP for his work on blood plasma and became the first African American to be appointed an examiner by the American Board of Surgery; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Drew was killed in an automobile accident in April 1950 on the way to a medical conference; and

WHEREAS, blood transfusions are sometimes the best way to treat and prevent some of the complications of sickle cell anemia. Two million African Americans, or 1 in 12, have the sickle cell trait and more than 80,000 people in the United States, 98% of whom are African American, are affected by sickle cell disease; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Charles Drew has been considered one of the most honored and respected figures in the medical field and his development of the blood plasma bank has given a second chance of life to millions:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-fifth General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby designates December 4, 2010, as "Dr. Charles Drew Recognition Day" in Missouri; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the General Assembly encourages and urges all citizens of the State of Missouri to participate in appropriate activities on Dr. Charles Drew Recognition Day to honor the medical revolution Dr. Drew made within the medical profession by storing blood plasma, establishing the American Red Cross blood bank, and organizing the world's first blood bank drive.

CORRECTION TO THE HOUSE JOURNAL

AFFIDAVIT

I, State Representative Pat Conway, District 27, hereby state and affirm that my vote as recorded on Page 367 of the Journal of the House for Tuesday, February 23, 2010, that indicated the absence of a quorum was incorrectly recorded as absent with leave. Pursuant to House Rule 89, I ask that the Journal be corrected to show that I voted aye. I further state and affirm that I was present in the House Chamber at the time this vote was taken, I did vote on this motion, and my vote was incorrectly recorded.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my hand to this affidavit on this 25th day of February 2010.
