

HB 373 -- GENERAL EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT REVOLVING FUND

(Vetoed by the Governor)

This bill creates the General Educational Development (GED) Revolving Fund to be administered by the Commissioner of Education consisting of fees charged to GED test applicants and examinees. After appropriation, the moneys in the fund will be used for the costs of test administration, which are specified in the bill. All moneys collected through cost-recovery activities will be credited to the fund, moneys remaining at the end of the biennium will not revert to the General Revenue Fund, and any accruing interest will be credited to the GED Revolving Fund annually.
