

HB 143 -- Child Abuse and Neglect Reports

Sponsor: Schoeller

This bill changes the laws regarding hotline calls reporting suspected child abuse or neglect to the Children's Division within the Department of Social Services. In its main provisions, the bill:

- (1) Requires each hotline and division case worker involved in a case of a child's death or serious injury to receive a preliminary evaluation by the division to determine if a performance assessment to determine if the worker is able to competently perform his or her duties is required. If an assessment is required, it must be completed within three days of the child's death;
- (2) Requires the division to review cases when three or more calls regarding the same child are made to the hotline within a 72-hour time period to determine if the calls meet the criteria and statutory definition for a child abuse and neglect report to be accepted. The review must include contacting the hotline caller or callers to collect information to determine if the calls meet the criteria for harassment;
- (3) Requires hotline workers to instruct an individual to call 911 when a child may be in immediate danger;
- (4) Prohibits any person responding to a child abuse and neglect investigation from leaving a business card, pamphlet, or other similar identifying information at a residence if there is no person present at the time of the attempted home visit and the alleged perpetrator resides in the home, the child's safety may be compromised, the alleged perpetrator will be alerted regarding the attempted visit, or the family has a history of domestic violence or fleeing the community; and
- (5) Requires a person responding to or investigating a child abuse and neglect report, if the alleged perpetrator is present during the visit, to provide written material to the alleged perpetrator informing the person of his or her rights regarding the visit, including the right to contact an attorney. The alleged perpetrator must be given a reasonable amount of time, not to exceed five minutes, to read the material or have the material read to him or her before the visit commences. This requirement does not apply in cases where the child faces an immediate threat or danger or if the person responding to or investigating feels threatened or in danger of physical harm.
