

HB 748 -- PERFORMANCE MEASURES

SPONSOR: Eggleston

This bill states it will change institutional performance measures for public institutions of higher education. The institutional performance measure relating to job placement will replace any existing institutional performance measures relating to sophomore retention. Such job placement measure will be weighted as one-third of the performance funding allocation for each institution, with the four remaining measures counted equally as the remaining two-thirds of an institution's performance funding allocation. The success or failure of any institution to meet any of its performance measures will not affect the performance funding of any other institution. If an institution fails to meet its performance measures the forfeited funds will revert to general revenue.
