

HB 921 -- PUBLIC ADMINISTRATORS

SPONSOR: Pfautsch

This bill provides that public administrators are no longer required to take into their custody the persons of all minors under the age of 14 whose parents are dead and who do not have legal guardians or conservators, and the estates of persons when moneys are delivered to the public administrator from the county coroner.

The bill also repeals a provision providing that public administrators will be the ex officio public conservator and have charge of the estates of minors.
